King Baggott Feature Is Showing at the Star

Thrilling European War Drama is Included in Today's Program.

King Baggott is starred today in "An All Around Mistake," a big feature film, at the Star theater. It is in two acts. An exceptional European war drama entitled "On the European Battlefield," completes the program.

"The Wolf of Debt," a three-part thriller, will be the chief offering Monday.

Edwin Middleton, who is making "Casino Comedies" on the Mutual program famous, is an old hand at the production of motion picture comedies. He was with the Lubin company for years, and was more recently with the Biograph company as one of its directors.

The musical comedy season at the Palace closes today with a finished production called "The Waiters' Union," a musical farce comedy presented by Dave Newman's "Tabarin Girls." The play is a snappy, sparkling piece and won great favor yesterday. The comedians are naturally funny and develop good situations during the play, thereby putting in the "punch" to complete a really funny plot. The girls are all good looking and display elegant costumes.

The principal screen offering today is "The Dream Dance," a beautiful Lubin society drama featuring Velma Whitman and L. C. Shumway. Kalem presents Ham and Bud in "Pascy's Road Show," produced by Clarence E. Ward.

When the curtain raises Monday evening at the Palace the audience will no doubt express surprise when it sees such a marvelous and brilliant display of scenic beauty arranged exclusively for the opening production of Cosmo Hamilton's real sensation, "The Blindness of Virtue," presented by the Lewis Oliver Players Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with a Wednesday matinee. A large force of men has been engaged for several days building and painting scenery, and there is assurance of a finished production in every detail.

J. Warren Kerrigan is at work on what is to be the last of his two western dramas made at "Kamp Kerrigan," Lake Tahoe. The story is by Nell Shipman and is entitled "Good Bye Summer." In addition to playing the leading role in this production, Kerrigan is directing the scenes.

The Orpheum is proud of the patronage given its gigantic spectacle, "The Seats of the Mighty," from the great novel by Sir Gilbert Parker, which is being shown today. Because of its powerful strength and its great popularity, and not forgetting the great cost in producing the drama, so sweet and filled with thrills of Colonial days, it was booked for two days. The costuming and lighting effects are exquisite and the staging gorgeous. The drama holds a place in the annals of film history.

It is said that theatrical companies in the South are prospering, in owing to the big prices paid for the crops down there.

Viola Dana, the beautiful Edison star, is seen in "Her Happiness," a three act romance today at the Bijou. This talented actress, who was leading lady in "The Stinging," needs no special mention as to her ability to please. She is perfect. Charles Chaplin appears today by special request in a return engagement of "Shanghai'd." A one-act comedy, "All Stuck Up," closes the show.

Monday a Griffith-Sennett six-act special feature will be the offering. Mary Pickford, Henry Walthal and Mae Marsh will top the list of high Cohan and Harris's stage comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," was presented Friday night at the Robinson Grand theater and a large audience laughed all the way through it and incidentally received a few pointers about the great value of advertising. "It Pays to Advertise" is a business play, therefore appeals strongly to men. But the plot is also romantic enough to win enthusiasm from the feminine portion of an audience. The farce is from the pens of Rol Cooper Meguire and Walter Hackett, who have brought forth one of the most laughable plays in recent years.

The play was capably presented by a clever cast including Shirley Carter, James I. Mitchell, Daniel A. Anderson, James J. Gardner, George Leland, Ruby Harriman, Faye Spencer and Mason Emerson. Scenery, costumes and properties were all up to the Cohan and Harris standard.

"Sherman Was Right," a farce by Frank Mandel, was produced this week in New York with Hale Hamilton in one of the leading parts. The action takes place on a German ship, on which the various personages have been placed after being taken off captured liners. The plot turns on a set of three mistaken identities, and there is a lot of confusion and complications before the identities are straightened out.

BUSINESS COLLEGE ELEVEN WINS GAME

Played at Union Park from Fairmont Collegians by Score of 62 to 0.

In a slow and poorly played game on the Union Park gridiron Friday afternoon the West Virginia Business College eleven defeated the Fairmont Collegians by the overwhelming score of 62 to 0. A number of the Fairmonters acted as if they had never played a game of football before in all their lives and were having difficulty at all stages of the game to try and figure out the plays made by the local team.

The business college boys played a slow game in comparison to what it did against the Reserves last Saturday. If it had showed true to form it would have scored at least 100 points against the visitors. Ward Fletcher and Mickey McMillan were the stars of the game. Fletcher's kicking and catching of long forward passes were the best seen on the field this season. McMillan tore through the Fairmont line at will, scoring five touchdowns.

Hamilton, of the Fairmont team, played a nice game, being in all the plays and breaking up many plays started by the bookkeepers.

TOY TRADE GROWING.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
TOKYO, Oct. 30.—Japan's export trade in toys has made remarkable progress since the outbreak of the war. This is due to the suspension of Germany's exportation of toys. The low cost of labor here coupled with a rapid development of Japanese inventive genius has won for Japan an increased market, especially in Great Britain and Australia.
